THIBAUD APTEL

< FRONT-END DEVELOPER >

PROFILE

My professional background is in business management and hospitality, and I am pursuing a new career as a software developer.

An adaptable and self-driven individual with a passion for programming. I like to understand how things work and build projects in collaboration with people using problem-solving skills.

I am seeking an opportunity to improve my proficiency and understanding of the technologies that I am learning, while expanding my familiarity with front-end practices, frameworks and tools.
